

SAILGP

30-31 July 2022

The Great Britain Sail Grand Prix is returning to Plymouth Five ways your business can engage!

SailGP is sailing redefined. Not only for the sailing enthusiast – but for anyone that wants to be part of a truly thrilling, adrenalin-packed, annual global sports championship. It will culminate with a $1 million winner-takes-all match race in the final in New Zealand in 2023.

However, major events such as SailGP bring more to a city than fan excitement. In addition to the thrills of the on-sea action, SailGP will funnel millions of pounds into the local economy – whilst attracting global attention and supplying the cobbles with a boost to tourism. In 2021, we saw hundreds of children learn to sail for the first time, and SailGP boosted the local economy by £7 million.

Far from being incidental, the location of a major event such as SailGP can be instrumental to the value it can unlock for local businesses, both big and small. From shops to professional services, manufacturers to cultural settings, pubs and restaurants to hotels, leisure offers to taxi drivers.

Not only do they all reflect the personality of Plymouth, together they create a lens that showcases our hidden gems and Plymouth's riches, and they can also receive tangible business benefits from such events.

We want to make sure that this is not only a valuable event for those that visit Plymouth, but for all of us in Plymouth too. Making sure there is 'wind in your businesses sails' before, during and long after SailGP hits the sound.

Involvement and engagement are key to the success of your business benefiting from SailGP's two-day event, and with that in mind, here are the first in many ways that your business can unlock value from this thrilling close to shore yacht racing event.

Share stories

Story-telling about your business or sector is a powerful engagement tool, motivator and multiplier; but sometimes having your business or sector stand out from a crowded space and become a household name can be a challenge. Even if your business primarily functions as a business-to-business operation, engaging with the people in your city is vital for talent retention and celebrating your business and sectors successes.

Readers connect deeply to stories that relate to senses; stories that they can engage with and make sense of; even when it's not familiar to them.

We have created a 'Great Britain Sail Grand Prix in Plymouth' platform via Invest Plymouth that will allow you to share press releases and stories with new audiences. Linking to three SailGP themes: Global, Inspire and Sustainability.

Is your business connected globally with partners or customers? Are you working with educational providers or offering apprenticeships to engage and recruit new, young talent? Are working on your sustainability plans and doing inspiring things around clean and green growth; if the answer is yes, we would love to share your story.

Email: invest@plymouth.gov.uk with your story or press release, with the header: Global, Inspire or Sustainable Stories and we will link your business with the SailGP audiences.

Other opportunities

There are lots of other ways that your business can support and unlock value from SailGP.
